German troops crossed the river at the confluence of the Skroda and Pliava rivers. Fresh land troops, which were under fire for the first time, especially distinguished themselves. North of the mouth of the Skwa was reached the

Between the upper Vistula and the Bug the forces are close, and the Russian army is following the retreating enemy.

POLICE ARE CONVINCED MASON'S STORY IS TRUE

Youth Who Confessed to Many Burglaries Carries Detectives to Scenes of Robberies.

Harry Mason, the romantic vagabond who confessed to detectives that he recently forewent the sensational career of a professional crackman to settle down to the "love of his heart," but failed in his good intentions when he lost his job, is proving to the city detectives that his story about a number of Atlanta stores is true.

Mason, Tuesday morning, took Detectives Gillespie and Vickers around the city to places he admitted in a third degree examination Saturday night, shortly after his arrest, to have robbed recently.

First Mason took the detectives to Provano's Pharmacy, corner Lee and Gordon streets, West End, where he relieved for detectives and a curious crowd of spectators how he burglarized the pharmacy and robbed the safe of $110. Mason did everything except work the combination on the pharmacy safe, which, he tells the detectives, he entered after the fashion of Jimmie Valentine, by sandpapering the tips of his fingers to the quick in order to feel the top of the combination as he turned it with his bleeding and superstitious finger tips.

Mason then led his captors to Henderson & Co., 104-1 Madison avenue, which he admits burglarizing and robbing two safes on last Saturday night a week ago.

Mason told Mr. Rosenfield that he ought to leave more money in his safes, to believe Mason's story of his life. They have discovered a man named Briscoe, an alias of Mason's, did serve a term at the state penitentiary for being the murderer of a Chicago policeman.

Building in Decatur.

The lad had reached the float and reached up to take hold of it, when his hand slipped and he went under. After his body had been in the water six minutes, George McArthur brought it to the surface.

The body was doubled up and apparently death had been due to acute indigestion. The boy had eaten a hearty dinner just before going in the water. A pulmoner was used in an effort to restore life, but without success.

With his two brothers, young Charlie had been camping at Lakeside for several days.

Chalmers Six-48 $1550

This Chalmers Owner Did Not Know That He Was Writing This Advertisement

He paid $1650 for the 5-passenger car, about which he is so enthusiastic. This same car with 7-passenger body now sells for $1550.

The letter published below was received in the ordinary course of business on May 22, 1915.

We are publishing it without a change.

New York, May 21, 1915.

Chalmers Motor Co., Detroit, Michigan.

Gentlemen—It seems to me that it would be only fair to the Chalmers Company for me to express my opinion of my car.

I have had it long enough to know it thoroughly. The enthusiasm which goes with the purchase of "something new" has had a chance to tone down a bit, and I can now analyze the actions and the general make-up of the car much better than I could during the first days of my possession of it.

A Buyer's Questions

Here are a few things that the buyer of a new car is sure to ask himself:

Could I have purchased a better car for the same or a less amount?

Will it make a hit when I "show it off" to my friends?

Is there anything about it that looks cheap?

Is it comfortable to ride in?

Is the engine quiet?

Will the self-starter always start?

Is it easy to keep going?

Will it "ride the bumps"?

How will the local office handle any "kicks"?

These are not the questions of the technical man nor of the expert automobilist. They are the things that a business man who drives his own car, will ask.

An Owner's Answers

Here are my answers:

I consider the Chalmers Car at $1,650. the cheapest buy on the market. In appearance, equipment, make-up, construction, power, flexibility, and comfort, it is, to my way of thinking, superior to cars selling at several hundred dollars more. I have had owners of higher priced cars ride with me and every man has expressed his amazement at the ability of the Chalmers Company to put out such a remarkable car at such a very low price.

I never have to show off my car to my friends. They do the talking for me. They say, "Isn't it a beautiful car?"—what fine lines." One of my associates in business said, "It represents a combination of beauty and evident strength such as I never have seen in any other auto at anywhere near the price. There is nothing cheap about one little item."

Comfort for the Wife

Regarding the matter of comfort in riding, my wife could best answer that question. She selected the left hand side of the tonneau seat as her "place" in the car and from the first ride of a few miles, to one of 625 miles that we have just finished, she has been thoroughly comfortable and declares that even a long ride does not tire her.

The quietness of the engine is a constant surprise.

Special Features—Chalmers Six-48

Full 48 h. p. motor—Big 7-passenger Body. 126" wheel base—34" x 45" tires. Nobby tread on rear wheels. Entz non-stallable starter. 48" standard steel rear springs—extra strong torque tube. Equipment complete even to Yale lock to prevent theft of car.

Never Any Trouble

Not once did I have any real trouble. The tool kit, so far as I was concerned might just as well have been left at home. A little water, an occasional supply of lubricating oil, the filling of the gasoline tank whenever I saw an "attractive" price at a supply station—a screwing up of grease cups—that was all my Chalmers needed.

Think what the possession of such a car means to a business man! Freedom from complications so far as to the operation of the car is concerned. Absence of worry over possible break-downs. The luxury of owning and operating a responsive, reliable, speedy piece of machinery that will take him a hundred or two hundred miles a day, or a few miles through the parkways of his own city. A car that his wife or his child can drive. A car that he is proud to be seen in.

And Always Economical

A car that is economical to operate and which has an established reputation for the way it keeps out of the repair shop. And the business man gets all of this for less than $1700.

Am I to be blamed for being so enthusiastic about my Chalmers? It is a great car and I am glad that I own one.

Yours sincerely,

E. D. GIBBS,
